

ING REIM Wins Property Manager of the Year at the Financial News Awards

ING Real Estate Investment Management walked away with the Property Manager of the Year 2009 award at the Financial News Awards on Tuesday evening (6th October) at the Banqueting Hall, London.

Kevin Aitchison, CEO of ING REIM UK picked up the prize and commented:

"It is a huge achievement to be awarded Property Manager of the Year and is a testament to all the hard work that everyone at ING REIM has put in over the year. We have continued to win new business and we still hold onto our position as the largest real estate player in the world, which is a tremendous result in what has been a challenging year."

Excerpt from Financial News:

"The selection process began with lists of nominees, selected by Financial News' editorial team on the basis of a wide range of criteria including investment returns, mandate wins, financial performance, significant hires and market opinion. These were sent this summer to our panel of 51 judges [comprising senior members of the pensions and asset management community], who allocated points from nought to five to each nominee where they had a view. The nominee with the highest average score was the winner."
